

Transportation Update

NE Judd Parkway Project

Construction on the NE Judd Intersection Project began in Jan. 2018 immediately following citizen approval of the 2015 Transportation Bond and is making significant progress.

The project is ahead of schedule despite significant rain this summer and is scheduled to take 18 months with completion by June 2019. The project adds lanes on NE Judd Parkway from Old Honeycutt Road past the Walmart shopping center.

As part of the project, Norfolk Southern Railroad will temporarily close the railroad crossing on Judd Parkway for up to 30 days to add lanes and move crossing signals. No specific date has been provided by Norfolk Southern, but every indication is that work will begin very soon (if it hasn't already by the time you get this newsletter). Workers are currently on site preparing for construction.

Learn more about the NE Judd Parkway Intersection Project and find the Official Detour Map, FAQs and an interactive map with details about lane additions at www.fuquay-varina.org/transportation. Expect higher than usual traffic in the area and plan alternative routes to avoid delays.

NW Judd Parkway

The Town reached another milestone in the NW Judd Parkway project which will complete the final leg of Judd Parkway and help redirect traffic around Fuquay-Varina. In July 2018, Town Staff acquired right of way (ROW) certification and subsequently requested Construction Authorization from the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA). If approved as expected, the construction bid process could begin in late October with an award going to the Town Board for approval in November. The final leg of Judd Parkway is expected to be open for use in 2020.

Proposed ETJ Expansion

The Town of Fuquay-Varina has submitted a request to Wake County to expand its extra-territorial jurisdiction (ETJ) by 22,049 acres. The Town's current ETJ (as of July 2, 2018) totals 8,739 acres.

The ETJ is the area outside Fuquay-Varina's Town limits but subject to Town zoning and development regulations. If a property in the ETJ is developed, construction follows the Town's standards ensuring that developments are harmonious with one another and with the Town's future land use plan. ETJ areas also allow the Town to manage infrastructure expansion (such as water and sewer lines) as land is developed. Property in the ETJ is not in Town limits so property owners do not pay Town taxes.

Learn more about the proposed ETJ Expansion and a series of Community Information Meetings planned to help residents learn about the proposed ETJ Expansion at www.fuquay-varina.org/ETJ

Help Prevent Sewer Overflows and Backups!

Fats, oils and grease aren't just bad for your arteries and waistline; they're bad for sewers too! Sewer overflows and backups can cause health hazards, damage home interiors and threaten the environment. An increasingly common cause of overflows is sewer pipes blocked by grease which gets into the sewer from household drains.

A byproduct of cooking, grease comes from meat fats, lard, oil, shortening, butter, margarine, food scraps, baked goods, sauces and dairy products. When washed down the sink, grease sticks to the insides of sewer pipes. Over time, it can build up and block the entire pipe creating an expensive and unpleasant cleanup that often must be paid by you, the homeowner!

Here's how to help prevent fats, oils and grease (FOG) from damaging your home and environment:

- NEVER pour grease down sink drains or into toilets;
- Put oil, grease and food scraps into a collection container or the trash for disposal;
- Put strainers in the sink to catch food scraps and other solids and empty them into the trash.
